

To laugh at what threatens you is to diminish its power to frighten.

To laugh at what saddens you is to lighten the load of your grief.

To laugh at yourself and your situation is to regain control over your life.

-- Dr. Wendy Schlessel Harpham